

Specialising in creating understated glamorous, elegant, stylish and timeless spaces with attention to detail from inception through to delivery.

Time to choose dk interiors.

How did you become an interior designer?

My previous career was in fashion, I was a successful buyer for a very large retailer which exposed me to such a wide range of products, fabrics, colour, trends as well as gaining a huge amount of management experience including running large teams of people.

I had, and still have a huge passion for fashion and loved my job but I really needed to re-invigorate my passion with a new direction and career path, I was feeling stifled and lacking creative stimulation. With my eye and flair for colour, fabric and style, I decided to explore other related career paths and directions and decided interior design was the most relevant and related path. Not only did I undertake a diploma in Interior Design but also obtained practical, professional and technical experience in an Interior design studio before embarking on establishing my own business in 2008, a 3 month internship transformed into 6 years working in the practice and now dk INTERIORS is in it's 13th year!

What services do you offer?

Our preference is to be involved from the outset of a refurbishment, working in collaboration with the architect and other professionals developing a home to suit the lifestyle, brief and the budget unique to each client.

Our service is all encompassing, starting with spatial planning, maximising space and flow, the services depends on the brief, it ranges from a full design service including designing bathrooms. Kitchens, joinery and furniture to individual rooms schemes focusing on sourcing, designing furniture and soft furnishings. Alongside our design expertise is the attention to detail in managing and overseeing project renovations where required.

What can you offer clients that others can't?

The competition is vast in the interior design industry, there are so many designers to choose from, we offer style and creativity combined with professionalism, experience, efficiency, technical knowledge, in today's world it is not enough to just be creative. Running complex projects and working with clients takes a huge amount of professionalism, we offer just that!

We are also a full member of the BIID, a registered interior designer with respected testimonials, repeat business from loyal clients.

What's your design ethos?

Quiet and refined luxury, understated and stylish, we always listen and interpret the client's lifestyle and needs, after all it is their home and it has to reflect their personality.

Describe your dream project

We have been lucky to work on a few dream projects, people, product, space, architectural details all combine to create the dream, when they work in harmony and cohesion (does not happen every time!), it makes the whole process so worthwhile.

It would be a dream though to work on a boutique hotel or villa overseas!
